UNITED CHURCH HEATING SYSTEM GREATLY IMPROVED

The basement of the Blairmore United church has been a very busy place during the evenings of the past three weeks or more. A new boiler has been installed to the steam heating system.

Co-operation in these days of labor shortage has made what would have been impossible quite possible. This has been quite a heavy job, the removal of the old boiler, excavating and cementing a 30-inch-deep boiler pit, and fitting largely new pipework in the basement and gymnasium. The church board turned out as a labor unit, and their voluntary help night after night has made the installation possible. All the work was done under the guiding hand of Sid Knappman, who joins Rev. Mr. McKelvey in thanking all the good men for their splendid and loyal help in turning out a job that would do credit to experienced men in the business.

Lethbridge Kiwanis Club, in line with Kiwanis International, will observe next week as newspaper week, when they hope to demonstrate to the Fourth Estate that their war efforts and service to the community do not go unnoticed. Members of the press of Southern Alberta have been invited to attend a luncheon at the Marquis hotel at noon on Tuesday next.

W. R. DRAKE MOVES

TO RED DEER

W. R. Drake, for quite a number of years head of the teaching staff of the Frank school, has accepted a new post with the teaching staff at Red Deer, and left for that point early this week. He is succeeded at Frank by Mrs. W. Cousens (nee Ann Penman) of Bellevue, who will be the sole teacher. Higher grade pupils will in future attend the Blairmore school. V. J. Horejai succeeds Mr. Drake as village secretary-treasurer.

Only a few days prior to Mr. Drake's leaving, he and Mrs. Drake were recipients of a beautiful silver service, plus many well-wishes for their future.

We understand that Mrs. Drake and children will remain for a while awaiting house accommodation at Red Deer.

JIMMY ALLAN AWARDED DSO

Word was recently received by Mrs. James Allan (nee Alberta Brunner) of Calgary, advising that her husband, Major James Chalmers Allan, has been awarded the DSO for distinguished service with the Seaforth's of Canada in Italy.

Major Allan is a Macleod boy, and formerly was employed by Messrs. Plunkett & Savage as manager in Blairmore till enlisting in September, 1939 with the Calgary Highlanders. He went overseas in November of 1940, but was commissioned while acting as platoon S/M at Camp Shilo before leaving. In July of 1941 he returned to Canada and was instructing at Calgary. He was again sent overseas and served in North Africa and Italy ever since. He was severely wounded on May 23, 1944, while in action in the Liri Valley.

AT ROYAL CANADIAN NAVAL COLLEGE

There are eleven Navy League Sea Cadets now attending the Royal Canadian Naval College at Royal Roads, BC, on scholarships awarded by the Navy League of Canada. Five are in their second and final year, the other six are freshmen. In addition to the scholarship winners, twelve other cadets were successful in this year's examinations, eleven of whom are now at the college, the twelfth having decided to enter university.

This is the second year that the Navy League has awarded scholarships to the Royal Canadian Naval College, and in doing so it has aroused unusual interest among the youth of Canada. This in turn has had a stimulating effect in increasing the enrolment of Navy League Sea Cadet Corp., of which there are 88 with a total membership of 15,000. The Sea Cadet movement was founded nearly 50 years ago, and is sponsored by the Navy League as a valuable youth training programme in peace as well as wartime.

OBITUARY

Following is the obituary of Bull Moose, three months old son of Mr. and Mrs. Moose, of the woods in British Columbia:

The young animal died recently during a trip into the forest, in the absence of his trainer, Carl Tanner, of Corbin.

Bull Moose was adopted by Mr. Tanner when quite young, and all arrangements had been made to transfer guardianship of the youngster to Frank West at the St. George's Island Zoo in Calgary.

During the absence of Mr. Tanner, Bull Moose wandered into the woods and was found dead three days later, apparently from overfeeding.

The funeral took place at Corbin, at which Mr. Tanner, provincial game inspector, officiated, and gamekeepers acted as pallbearers.

BLAS-MEFFAN

Blairmore Central United church was beautifully decorated for the occasion on Wednesday afternoon last at 2.30, when Isabel Campbell, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Meffan, of Blairmore, was united in marriage to Sergt. Alex. Blas, of the RCAF, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Blas, sr., who recently returned to Blairmore after four years of service overseas.

To the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march the lovely bride, charmingly dressed in an afternoon gown of gold wool crepe with brown hat and accessories of the same color, and wearing a bridal corsage of pink roses, entered the church on the arm of her father. Miss Thelma Howe, almost life-long friend of the bride, groomed in turquoise crepe and matching hat and accessories, was a charming bridesmaid. Mr. Emil Blas, jr., brother of the groom, acted as best man.

Rev. J. McKelvey, pastor of the church, officiated. Two members of the RCMP, Constables D. Madill and T. Anderson, associates of the bride's father, acted as ushers. The scarlet and gold of their dress uniforms lent a dash of contrasting color to the pretty wedding scene.

After the ceremony the guests were received by the happy young couple at the home of the bride's parents on State Street, assisted by the bride's mother, wearing a gown of black en-bossed crepe, and the mother of the groom, wearing a gown of brown marocain.

Later in the afternoon a delightful wedding dinner was served at the Greenhill Grill, attended by relatives of the contracting parties and a few invited friends. Mr. Harold Pinkney, of the F. M. Thompson Co., where the bride had been employed for several years, proposed the toast to the bride, which was responded to by the groom.

APPROPRIATE TIME

The liberation of Paris has sent everyone scurrying back a number of years for their fondest memories of France's great capital. We have been fortunate enough to have in our possession a pre-war Parisian post card used for a clever bit of advertising. The advertiser is "Harry's New York Bar," and the post card goes like this:

You're Telling Me!

What a Difference a Few Years Make!

1888
Fifty years ago women wore hoop skirts, bustles, petticoats, corsets, cotton stockings, high buttoned shoes, ruffles, cotton drawers, flannel night gowns, puffs in their hair; did their own cooking, cleaning, washing, ironing; raised big families, went to church on Sunday and were too busy to be sick.

Men wore whiskers, square hats, Ascot ties, red flannel underwear, big watches and chains; chopped wood for stoves, bathed once a week, drank ten cent whiskey and five cent beer, worked twelve hours a day and lived to a ripe old age.

Stores burned coal oil lamps, carried everything in stock from a needle to a plow, trusted everybody, never took inventory, placed orders for goods a year in advance, always made money.

Today women wear silk stockings, short skirts, low shoes, no corsets, an ounce of underwear, bobbed hair; smoke, paint and powder, drink cocktails, play bridge, drive cars, have pet dogs and go in for politics.

Men have high blood pressure.

Recipients of many beautiful and costly presents, Sergt. and Mrs. Blas left amidst many expressions of good wishes for their future happiness. They are spending their honeymoon in Vancouver with the bride's uncle, Mr. Robert Gray, formerly of Blairmore.

An interesting visitor to Blairmore last week end was Staff-Sergeant Gerald Matheson, a grandson of the late Harry Matheson, a pioneer publisher and printer of the Crow's Nest Pass. "Jerry" was not satisfied with the United States army in that rank, but he further decided to join the army of benedictines, and only last week married Mary Alice Della, third daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph D'Amond, of the ranching district north of Lundbreck-Cowley. SJS and Mrs. Matheson left for Spokane and other points south on Saturday. Jerry is release air gunner with the U.S. Army Air Corps, and has served three years in Italy, Africa, Tunisia, Greece and Sardinia.

An Alberta merchant went to Toronto and Montreal to buy new stock for his store. Before leaving, he told his wife he'd be away for a week. At the end of the week he wired her: "Need another week to complete business." At the end of the second week he wired again, stating he needed a further week to finish business. But when a third wire arrived, stating absence for another week, his little wife sent him the following wire: "Come home immediately, sweetheart, before I begin selling what I think you are buying."

MRS. WM. JOHNSTON PASSES

People of the entire district were shocked to learn of the rather sudden passing of a well known citizen in the person of Mrs. William Johnston, wife of the local district manager of the wholesale firm of Plunkett & Savage Ltd., at the age of 57.

Mrs. Johnston entered hospital over the week end and underwent an operation for appendicitis, from which she failed to rally, passing away at about 3 o'clock on Wednesday morning.

She is survived by her husband; two daughters, Joan, 12, at home, and Dora (Mrs. Roy Jardine) in Nova Scotia; also her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Barrell, of the Royal hotel, Calgary; brother Wilfred in the RCAF, and sister, Mrs. Campbell, at the Pacific coast.

Funeral takes place this afternoon, with service at St. Luke's Anglican church at 4.30. The remains will be laid to rest in the Blairmore Union cemetery.

Relatives attending will include Mr. and Mrs. Barrell and Mrs. Campbell. A. E. Ferguson, of the Crow's Nest Funeral Home, is in charge.

Mr. and Mrs. Barrell arrived from Calgary by Tuesday night's train, which was somewhat late. They registered at the Greenhill hotel, and did not know of their daughter's death till morning.

"SALTY" TEA

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

AIDE TO CUPID

By MABEL G. SHELTON

McClure Newspaper Syndicate

"Granny, will you do me a favor?" Beth Thomas looked appealingly at her grandmother, her blue eyes anxious.

Granny Bevis snorted. "And when did I ever refuse you one? But remember, I've got to get to that candlelight service at the church by six. Is it something I can do before then?"

"Yes. It's—well, you see, Harvey Rudy is coming tonight, and I asked him for supper. If you'd just get things ready before you go—"

Granny snorted again. "And you can't boil water without scorching the pan? Sorry you're right, miss. I've warned you about learning to cook."

"Oh, I will, Granny. Every girl learns when she gets engaged. But won't you help me out this time?"

Granny didn't like the sound of that "engaged," but she promised to cook the meal.

"You darling!" Beth kissed her wrinkled cheek. "Just leave everything ready for me to warm up at the last minute. I've got to run now."

Granny thought about Harvey Rudy while she peeled the potatoes. She never had liked the thought of Beth's marrying him. Not that she could put her finger on anything especially wrong with the boy, but he just wasn't good enough for her lovely, golden-haired Beth. Of course he was a teller in the First National, but that didn't mean he was a go-getter. Probably never would be anything higher than a teller.

"Expecting my girl to slave for him," she grumbled. And here she was working her fingers to the bone, helping Beth to snare him.

Then an idea came to her. She thought it over and decided it was pretty clever. "Wants to taste one of her meals, does he? Well, he'll never want to taste another one after this. And I won't be breaking my word, either. I said I'd cook supper."

and cook it. I will. I didn't say how I'd cook it."

It was a shame to do to perfectly good food what she did to that meal. The things that should have had sugar got salt, and vice versa. She put so much salt in the biscuits that they developed rusty spots when baked. She boiled the fresh green peas for a few minutes with baking soda. They came out a brilliant green, but hard as marbles. And she made the cream sauce lumpy.

But Granny was a thrifty soul and a good cook, and to spoil was waste like this hurt her conscience. "It's for the good of my girl," she kept telling herself. "She's not going to throw herself away if I can help it." Finally the meal was ready. It looked delicious, but she knew how horrible everything would taste. "No man in his right mind would marry a girl who cooked like that," she quavered. "That last bite of fruit salad flavored with salt instead of sugar had almost paralyzed her vocal chords."

She hurriedly changed her dress and set out for the church. The candlelight service had begun before she arrived.

"Here," somebody thrust a candle and a slip of paper into her hands. "You'll be the last one. You just go to the front, read what's on this paper and light your candle from the big one."

Granny sank back in her seat with a sigh. Beth would just about now be warming up the vegetables. What a meal—dry, stringy pork, cake without any baking powder! Oh, it was a proper meal!

She dozed through the service. Then someone nudged her and said it was time to light her candle. She went to the front of the room in a haze and opened her paper.

The lights were dim and she strained her eyes to see. "I will be faithful," she read falteringly, "and kind, and true. And hold ever before me the precepts of Right. I will be known for my loving mercy and kind deeds—" she broke off and glared at the congregation. "Cat's hind foot," she said loudly. "I can't read this thing. It wouldn't be right."

A murmur followed her as she stalked down the aisle. The ladies had grown used to Granny's eccentricities, but they still regretted them. She did not stop until she reached home, and all the way she kept repeating, "Faithful, true, kind deeds, loving mercy." There was no one to be seen at home, but the dining table was littered with that awful meal.

"Beth," she called, "are you here?" Beth came flying down the stairs, her face glowing. "Oh, Granny, you've come. Harvey had to go, but—look!" She held up her left hand and Granny caught the glitter of a diamond. Her eyes fairly popped.

"We're engaged. And Harvey's been popped to cashier. Isn't it thrilling?"

Granny tried twice before she could speak. "Did he like the supper?"

Beth giggled. "No, not exactly. Granny, I must be the world's worst cook. I spilt all that lovely food somehow. You must begin right away to teach me to cook."

"But Harvey asked you to marry him, anyway."

Beth giggled. "Yes, and he was real sweet about the supper. He admitted it wasn't very good. But he said if it had been too good he'd have thought you cooked it. Isn't that rich?"

Granny was busy raking food into the garbage pail. "Raking is no word for it," she muttered.

REQUIRES A WITNESS

Mark Twain said even the cleverest and most perfect circumstantial evidence is likely to be at fault after all, and therefore ought to be received with great caution. Take the case of any pencil sharpened by a woman; if you have witnesses, you will find she did it with a knife, but if you take simply the aspect of the pencil, you will say she did it with her teeth.

SCHOOL LUNCHES

Nutritious, Attractive Noon Meal Necessary For The Younger Generation

By LARRY C. PAPPAS, Chief, Consumer Section, Dominion Dept. of Agriculture
"Satchel over shoulder and lunch pail in hand, sun-tanned and healthy after the long summer vacation, the younger generation has answered the call of the school bell."

Will Bill and Janie enjoy the same buoyant health next March that they have now; or will the roses fade from their cheeks and listlessness replace September's joyous vitality? Lift the lid of the lunch pail and look inside, for there lies a clue to the answer.

Educational and health authorities fully realize the importance of the school lunch. They know only too well that the kind of lunch a child eats throughout the school year has a definite bearing on the marks on his report card, his attendance record and his capacity to learn.

The Nutrition Division, Ottawa, stresses the importance of including three types of food in every lunch box: milk, a fruit or vegetable and a building food like meat, eggs, cheese, fish or beans.

Easy to carry and popular with the children, sandwiches are generally the mainstay of the carried lunch and their filling may supply either the building food or the vegetable 'must'.

It isn't difficult to keep sandwiches interesting, even as daily fare. Such simple devices as changing the shape, from squares to triangles or fingers, or combining a slice of white with a slice of brown bread in the same sandwich can be surprisingly effective. But sandwiches must taste as well as look interesting and that depends on the filling. . . . be sure to spread it generously.

Mothers will like these suggestions for fillings from the Consumer Section of the Dominion Department of Agriculture because they are quickly and easily prepared. The children will like them too, for they definitely appeal to the taste of the youngsters.

Sandwich Fillings

(Add salt, pepper and salad dressing to these fillings as needed for flavour or to moisten.)

Chopped egg—Hard-cook or scramble the egg and combine with any of the following: chili sauce, diced celery, grated onion, shredded raw spinach, green peas, green peas and carrots, minced left-over cooked meat—Add one or more of the following: grated onion, chopped celery or onion, chili sauce, sweet or mustard pickles.

Chopped minced liver—Especially good with grated raw carrot or with chopped celery. Sometimes, add a few drops of chili sauce.

Cheese—Sliced plain or with thin slices of Spanish type onions. Pack a few cut or whole sticks to eat with this sandwich.

Grated cheese—Good with marmalade or cottage cheese.

Cottage cheese—Ring the changes with any one of the following: shredded lettuce, chopped parsley, onion, chili sauce, chopped pickle, jam, marmalade or jelly.

Sardines—Chopped parsley, pickles or chili sauce.

Chopped raw vegetables—Use one kind or several. Add grated cheese and salad dressing.

Chopped cabbage—Good with grated raw carrot or turnip. Excellent good when a few raisins are added.

Peanut butter—This favourite filling is best with lettuce and marmalade are both good additions.

Baked beans—Mash and maybe add a little ketchup.

Bologna Sandwich Filling— $\frac{1}{4}$ lb bologna or wieners, 2 tablespoons chopped pickles, $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon mayonnaise, $\frac{1}{4}$ cup mayonnaise, $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon minced onion, $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon spicy must sauce, $\frac{1}{4}$ cup ground raw carrot, 2 tablespoons chopped celery. Grind bologna; add other ingredients and mix well. Makes 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ cups filling.

Eerie Type Of Warfare

Seine Area Was Very Quiet After Fighting In Normandy

The comparatively quiet push across the Seine was an eerie type of warfare after the days in Normandy when the guns were going all the time and week after week you drove the same roads, saw the same places and got to know by sight practically all the civilians in the district.

If you got off the main roads in the Seine area you could sometimes drive a mile or two hardly seeing any sign of life. The jeep motor and the friction of its tires on the asphalt road were often the only sounds.

Densets of roads criss-crossed the Canadian area winding through silent forests and though all the useful ones had been checked for mines and patrolled for enemy, some remained untouched and you could drive along without seeing any evidence of the war.

Sometimes on these roads, a dispatch rider taking a short cut or a lone jeep would be shot at by a German straggler hiding. Even a German tank crew would be cut off in these out-of-the-way places.

On other deserted lanes concealed by woods you found the wreckage of German vehicles sought out in their shaded hiding places and surreptitious routes to the Seine by Typhoon pilots who must have been hawk-eyed to find them.

Have High Priority

Medical Services For People Of British Colonies Are Assured

Behind the Allied armies in the Pacific Islands come the British doctors. They begin at once to take up again the threads of the medical services, broken at the time of the Japanese occupation. Even in wartime, Britain puts a high priority on medical services for the peoples of the British Colonial Dependencies.

In the war against tropical diseases much of the pioneer research was done by British scientists; and research still continues unceasingly. The results are being applied increasingly to the improvement of the health of the Colonial peoples. As they are won over from prejudice or superstition to confidence in the technique of Western medicine, the supply of medical staff becomes of major importance. Personnel is increasingly recruited from among the Colonial peoples themselves, to work in co-operation with British medical experts. The outstanding problem is the provision of the necessary vocational training.

The Central Medical School in Suva, Fiji provides training for students from all the British territories in the Southwest Pacific. There is also a Central Nursing School at Suva open to native student nurses from all the islands.

The Ceylon Medical College is already training Ceylonese students to the same professional standard as that of doctors in Great Britain. Graduates of the Singapore Medical College and the University of Hong Kong were qualified to practice anywhere in the British Empire as their degrees were recognized by the British General Medical Council. There are central medical schools serving British West and East Africa; they are not yet able to train to the standard of fully qualified doctors, but that is the ultimate goal.

Under the plan Berlin would be the seat of the commission, representing Britain, the United States and the Soviet Union. Each country would have a controlling sphere—the Russians the eastern section, Britain the northwest and the United States the southwest.

Necessary As Food

Potatoes Contain Supply Of Vitamin C And Also Iron

According to the Nutrition Division, Ottawa, one medium baked potato has no more calories than a really large orange. This should be good news for people who worry about extra pounds.

Canada's Food Rules state that one serving of potatoes is a "valuable must." About one-third of Canada's supply of Vitamin C comes from potatoes which are also a good source of iron.

Potatoes are at their best now when they are newly harvested and still contain their full quota of minerals and vitamins. Later, as a result of storage, some of these elements will be lost.

Leaving the jackets on potatoes when boiling or steaming saves both time and food value. The potatoes may be peeled just before serving but many families prefer to eat them skins and all. This is all to the good and is heartily endorsed by nutritionists.

Three-Year Period

Allied Officials Taking Posts In Germany Have To Remain

Officials being considered for posts in the British section of the Allied commission to administer Germany after the war are being informed they must agree to stay at least three years.

Under the plan Berlin would be the seat of the commission, representing Britain, the United States and the Soviet Union. Each country would have a controlling sphere—the Russians the eastern section, Britain the northwest and the United States the southwest.

JOE CITIZEN SAYS:

Some think the war is nearly through—some take a quite contrary view. Me, I prefer to wait and see, but with one viewpoint I agree, and that is we must carry on until the need for help is gone. Suppose the fighting all was done the peace would still have to be won and that, if I am seeing right, won't be a job done overnight. No, sir, we won't for many a day from wartime rules get clear away. War's cost has certainly been steep and lasting peace will not come cheap. So dreams of good times let us quit and to our country's needs submit. Let's lend our money anyhow—that's what we're asked to do right now.

and, personally, I just plan to lay in every bond I can.

URGE MOTORISTS TO TAKE CARE OF TIRES

There still is need for the exercise of conservation in the use of car tires, according to the Alberta Motor Association.

In view of reports of certain pending releases of articles required exclusively hitherto for war purposes, there is a tendency in some quarters to anticipate that these may include such vital materials as fuel and rubber.

Federal officials continue to emphasize that there still is great need of all available fuel for war needs and there is no prospect of the supply for civilian needs being increased as long as supplies must go forward for the armed forces.

In regard to tires, it is recalled that rubber control officials have stated that it is unlikely that new tires for the average motorist will be available before late next year. This makes it evident that every care must be taken to prolong the life of old tires, and the elimination of all unnecessary driving.

Synthetic tires have shown themselves capable of satisfactory mileage if they are treated right. Recapping of tires also is playing a big part in stretching this country's tire mileage.

OUTLINE BORDER

CROSSING RULES

An outline of border crossing regulations of interest to residents of this province has been issued by the Alberta Motor Association.

Border officials say the trouble lies in a confusion between U.S. regulations governing entry to the United States and Canadian regulations governing exit from Canada.

No specific documents are required for admission for visiting periods not exceeding 29 days, of Canadian citizens or British subjects who are domiciled in Canada. Each applicant must be able to satisfy immigration authorities as to his status.

If the visiting period be more than 29 days, the visitor must have a visa from a U.S. consulate.

All residents of Canada wishing to leave the country for any length of time require an exit permit issued under authority of the Foreign Exchange Control Board. These can be obtained in any chartered bank.

The Nanapanee and Queen's hotels at Fernie are being converted into apartment blocks at an estimated cost of $100,000.

The 100th grand master for British Columbia, John R. Hunter of Nelson, recently visited lodges between Cranbrook and Natal inclusive.

During courtship he broadcasts and she listened in. After marriage she broadcasted and he listened in. Now they both broadcast and the neighbors listen in.

Mayor Andrew Davidson, of Calgary and MLA in Alberta, and Mrs. Davidson, were Fernie visitors on Monday. They were motoring from Mirror Lake, where they had been holidaying. Andy is looking as young and vigorous as he did 30 odd years ago when he was a machine operator on the Fernie Free Press.—Fernie Free Press.

Ration book 5, to be distributed during the week October 14 to 21, will cover 50 weeks instead of the former 32, owing to the stable picture of the supply situation which has been obtained for the first time since the war began. Similar in size to previous books, it will contain 25 coupons on each of its eleven pages, as against 16 previously.

On one of the inside pages of our issue of September 15th appeared a picture showing Prince Bernhard, of the Netherlands, husband of Crown Princess Juliana, a wartime resident of Canada, visiting the First Canadian Army in France, when he inspected a guard of honor with Capt. W. Gager, of Winnipeg. Many of his country are serving with the Canadian Army. Many local folks would be interested in knowing that of these inspected, the third man from the right is Private Joe Nicholas, brother of Mrs. X. C. Kaupp, of the Cowley hotel.

Judge: "What is your excuse for speeding 20 miles an hour?"

Jimmy: "Well, I just heard, your honor, that the ladies of my wife's church were giving a rummage sale, and I was hurrying home to save my other pair of pants."

Self-Respect

As MacPherson and his girl were entering the cinema, the girl said: "Here's my one-and-three-pence, John."

"Ah, I'm glad you've given it to me before we go in, Jenny. Ye know, if there's one thing I can't abide it's to see a lassie pay for herself."

Horrible Example

An old Scotch woman was wandering around the museum with her grandson. When they came to the usual statue of Venus de Milo, with half an arm missing on one side and the whole arm cut away on the other, "There ya are, my lad," said the old grandmother, wagging her finger to the youngster, "that's what comes o' biting your fingernails."

There is a story of Mr. Gladstone, who was on a visit to the Isle of Man about forty years ago. It fell to Mr. Cowell, the oldest member of the House of Keys parliament, to entertain him. An old inhabitant of the Isle, over 80, asked to meet Mr. Gladstone. He said: "Do you know, Mr. Gladstone, that I come of a remarkable family. My brother and I lived together and lay together for nine months, and never exchanged a word."

"Most extraordinary," cried Mr. Gladstone.

"Yes, for nine long months," said the old man, "We were twins."

THE BLAIRMORE BUZZ

July 22.

Edition 2 not to be confused with Edition 1 free to our friends—and we have no enemies.

After going to press last week we discovered that ours is not the first Canadian FM's paper, but the second. However, ours is the first to have trans-Atlantic air mail distribution. Already suggestions have been made. Some want an "Advice to the Lover" column; some want biographies of members of the crew (one a week) and some want cartoons. We aim to please. Contributions are gratefully accepted.

On last week's staff of voluntary typists were Tiffy Ashmore, Dickson and Starling.

The ship's company extends deepest sympathy to George MacDonald, who received word that his brother Douglas was killed in action on D-Day. Doug. had recently paid us a visit. Alex. Orme has received no further word of his brother Bill, missing since the sinking of HMCS Valleyfield on May 6. Bill Starling's brother, Cave, is still a prisoner of war in Germany.

Our ship is undergoing a new paint job, gray and white with black trim—very tidley.

We ran out of bread last week, but George Videau came through again with a fresh batch of biscuits and currant rolls. Thanks, George.

Gunner Officer Jimmy Fields:

"What's your inclination?"

AAS Vic Parker: "To get ashore."

Fields: "No, I mean what's your angle of approach?"

Parker: "Oh, I find a box of chocolates is good."

Hello, Blairmore, and greetings! We're keeping "close station" on all your doings through our copy of your Blairmore Enterprise. It arrives regularly. Thanks.

"Well, as they say in England, 'Cheerio! Pip-pip and carry on.'"

The fight is overseas—in the face of the enemy—and you must be an overseas soldier to get into it.

So get that GS badge on your arm right away.

There's still time—and there's a place for you in the Canadian Army—for all the young men who want to be fighting soldiers.

ABOUT THE THINGS YOU BUY IN WARTIME

The sugar situation is NOT sweet

FOUR-FIFTHS OF THE SUGAR CANADA CONSUMES HAS TO BE IMPORTED

This map shows where Canada, Great Britain and the United States got their sugar in the good old days of peace. Our three countries take practically all the exportable sugar from these major sugar-exporting areas.

But supplies have either been cut off by enemy occupation of the country—as in the case of Java and the Philippines, or their production radically reduced by shortage of workers, as in the case of Hawaii, Porto Rico, Australia, Trinidad, Fiji.

The war has brought some unusual demands on the United Nations' sugar pool. Vast quantities have been taken for making industrial alcohol used in the manufacture of synthetic rubber (Dunlop) as well as for making airplane powder. For instance, the explosive to fill five 16-inch shells requires as much sugar as

THE SUPPLY IS SHARED

All sugar supplies are pooled and under the control of the Combined Food Board of the United Nations, which allots supplies to Canada, United States and Great Britain on a uniform basis.

WE'RE LIVING ON OUR SUGAR CAPITAL

At the time of "Pearl Harbour" the United Nations had a reserve stock-pile of about 3 million tons, but for the last 3 years we've been using more than has been produced—and dipping heavily is produced on an acre of the finest sugar land. This year Cuban sugar alone used for making industrial alcohol will equal Canada's normal sugar imports for more than two years.

DO WE NEED MORE SUGAR?

A century ago the whole world didn't consume as much sugar as Canada does today. Our sweet tooth has been acquired in quite recent times. Sugar rates high for its energy value, but starchy food is a good substitute.

CANADA enjoys a high health record. And bread, more than any other single food, has helped make this possible. Bread supplies one-fourth of the food energy of the Dominion.

Rich in carbohydrates, bread is the best and cheapest source of human fuel. And, thanks to its modern milk formula, bread is also an important protein source, equal to meat in muscle building and repair.

Research In Canada

SCIENTIFIC RESEARCH HAS BEEN the means of opening many new possibilities to men; and has had far reaching effects upon the course of history. Its importance is accentuated in modern warfare, when scientists are called upon not only to create new materials, but also to devise methods of dealing with the destructive forces of the enemy. While its role in wartime is often dramatic, the peace-time value of research is equally vital, and its contributions to civilian life are in many cases of greater and more lasting value. In recent years there have been interesting and important developments in the field of science, and the greater part of these are eventually adapted to serve for the good of all mankind.

Valuable Work Is Done Here

Most enlightened countries have, for many years, recognized the importance of research to general progress, and have encouraged their scientists to work in the interests of national development. Canada has organized this work through the National Research Council, with headquarters at Ottawa, and much valuable research has been done by that body on scientific problems of particular importance here. Canada is as yet a young nation, and the potentialities of her industries are still very great. There are undoubtedly many possibilities for the development of further uses of farm crops, and of the waste products from farms and industries, and it would be to the public interest to see that every encouragement is given to work of this kind.

Figures Show Small Outlay

At a recent meeting of the Canadian Institute of Public Relations, R. W. Boyle, chief of the Physics Division of the National Research Council, told the members of the Institute that Canada spends considerably less than Russia, Great Britain or the United States, on scientific research. Giving the per capita figures of the expenditures for these purposes in the countries mentioned, Mr. Boyle stated that in Russia the outlay is about $24.40; in the United States $1.80; in Britain 80 cents, while in Canada only 29 cents per capita per year is devoted to this purpose. Canadian universities provide facilities for excellent scientific training, and there is no lack of well-qualified research workers in the Dominion. It is apparent that we are far behind in the provision which we make for this important work, and an improvement along these lines could well be included in our plans for post-war development.

Made Supply Of Radium Possible During Siege Of Leningrad

During the blockade of Leningrad there was a shortage of life-saving radium for the front, according to the Soviet Information Service.

A building in which radium had been used for 20 years was thoroughly scraped, the plaster removed from the walls and ceilings and a considerable supply of radium extracted from the waste. The scientist responsible was awarded the Order of Red Banner of Labor.

Time Magazine Gives Space To Praise Of Canadian 1st Army

The 1st Canadian Army drew 5% columns of praise in a recent edition of Time magazine and the commander, Lt.-Gen. Crerar, entered the niche Time reserves for the select few when a steel-helmeted head-and-shoulders picture of him appeared on the front page.

Time told of the Canadians' return to Dieppe, scene of the bloody Aug. 19, 1942, raid, the mopping-up of the robot bomb coast of France and of the Canadian victories at Caen and Falaise "where," in General Eisenhower's words, "every piece of dust represented diamonds and every foot of ground was worth 10 miles elsewhere."

CO-OPERATION NEEDED

Anthony Eden, British Foreign Secretary, said something at a luncheon honoring Rene Masagill, French Commissioner for Foreign Affairs, recently, that should be kept before every Canadian: "It's not too much to say that the fate of Europe depends in a large measure on how far you and we can work together. We need vision to see, faith to act and courage to persevere."

The British minister of health has a "white list" on which are recorded the towns which have no slum areas. There are 33 towns on the list at present.

Canadian Troops In Italy Know What Inflation Will Do

"See Naples and die" is an old saying. Although hundreds of Allied soldiers have seen Naples and are very much alive, a lot of them thought that they would pass out at the prices they had to pay for ordinary commodities.

The glare of Italy's sun is very hard on western eyes, yet soldiers were charged $6.50 to $9.00 for sun glasses that would cost a few cents at home. Two soldiers who were doing the town one day had to pay the following prices: two eggs .70 cents; bread 10 cents a slice; beef one dollar a portion; potatoes 30 cents; spaghetti 50 cents and on and on. One man had a snack consisting of two eggs, chips, bread and red wine which cost him $1.70 and to add insult to injury, the soldier from Texas swore that his beef was "plain army snuff."

Before the Nazis left, able bodied men were afraid to appear on the streets for fear of being deported to slave labour in Germany. Without any earnings their families had to live on meagre rations, and high prices put most foods quite out of their reach.

Price control is a sort of fence around the everyday business of buying and selling goods. As long as the fence holds strong, prices remain stable, a dollar buys a dollar's worth of tomatoes, street car tickets, telephone calls, stockings. But let one slat of the fence be broken and through the resulting hole stability could escape. Priceless would be the result. Right here in Canada this could happen. So make it one of your personal war assignments to see that this doesn't happen. Keep an eye on prices in your community saving too... that's what you're responsible for... your own community!—By Edna Jacques.

Demand For Salt

Production In Canada Reached New High Record Last Year

Recent figures from the Dominion Bureau of Statistics show that the production of sodium chloride or common salt in Canada reached a record high during 1943 in both quality and value of output. Six hundred and eighty-seven thousand, six hundred and eighty-six short tons were produced, valued at $4,379,578.

The market for salt in the Dominion is steadily increasing. Domestic production is said principally to the dairy, meat curing and canning industries; fisheries; chemical industries; as table salt and to highway and transport departments for use as soil stabilizers.

The use of salt in soil stabilization for the foundation of highways and for a surface veneer for gravel roads has shown a marked increase in recent years. It has been used extensively also in the soil-stabilized bases for runways at Canadian airfields. Sand, piled each fall along main highways, remains loose and free-flowing even in the coldest weather when mixed with salt, thus allowing easy distribution on icy roadways.

The fellow who boasts he runs things in his house probably means the lawn mower, washing machine, vacuum cleaner, baby carriage and errands.

Q.—My home is under construction and yet I have not obtained the hot air furnace for it. What procedure should I take to purchase one?

A.—Certificates of essentiality for hot air furnaces will be available to owners of new homes having a permit from the controller of construction and providing the home is under construction. These certificates of essentiality may be obtained at the nearest local or regional office of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board office.

Q.—I have just moved into a house which has never been rented before. Although I agreed to pay my landlord the rent he asked, I understand that within a month from the date I moved in he must have the rent approved by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board. How will I know that the rent I am being charged has been approved by the Prices Board? The rent office of the Prices Board will send you a copy of the decision it has made regarding the rent you are being charged. It is called a maximum rental decision, and it will show the rent that has been approved for your accommodation.

Q.—I understand I can get a voucher for buying honey by mail. What is the procedure? ITALY—

There is never a dull moment in the life of the CWACs stationed with the Canadian Army Show in Italy. Every day brings a horde of new and rich experiences. One of the saddest experiences of one group of girls was a brief engagement with an enemy laundry, used from which both sides retired in utter confusion. The laundry boys, eager to please, volunteered to look after the unfamiliar items of CWAC tropical dress. The uniforms were returned fresh and clean. The girls, however, were disappointed in their appearance in them, but when they went in to change, they found that the efforts of the laundry had shrunk their garments to a point where the skirts and slacks would not cover the areas prescribed under C.W.A.C. dress regulations.

Time is usually precious, but not always as such as Pte. Sue Lemky's clock would seem to indicate. Of course, Pte. Lemky, whose home is at Edenbridge, Sask., has really a very special kind of clock; and not the least amazing thing about it is that it suits her Army job perfectly. Pte. Sue is employed at Prince Albert, Sask. On the face of the clock is pictured the figure of a young girl and kneeling before her is a little boot black. With every tick of the clock, the boot black gives the girl's shoes a brush. Pte. Lemky finds that her clock serves as a reminder to her own duties. She has been a member of the C.W.A.C. for more than a year.

EMBARRASSING MOMENTS—The recent order that members of the C.W.A.C. may wear civilian clothing while on 48-hour passes, has resulted in many confusing and embarrassing moments for the girls. At a formal reception in Vancouver, B.C., recently, Lt.-Col. Berna Paynter of Victoria was highly embarrassed to find herself entering a room filled with guests and snatching off a veiled and befuddled chapeau in lieu of her usual khaki cap. Regimental habit, too, has caused many a dignified maid officer to be left standing on the street in bewilderment as a fashionably dressed young woman passed by and whipped up a smart salute.

Ottawa Workshop Provides Photographic Lenses For R.A.F.

Some of the photographic lenses used in sweeps by the Royal Air Force originate in the workshop of the National Research Council, Ottawa.

Lenses up to six inches in diameter, suitable for taking pictures from heights of 20,000 to 30,000 feet, are manufactured in the laboratory. The amount of work that goes into one of these is unbelievable. A lens arrives at the laboratory as a number of blank pieces of optical glass. It leaves as a lens accurate to within one one-hundred-thousandth part of an inch. Between the raw state and the finished product there's grinding, polishing and calibrating work of amazing precision.

Curves must be perfect to within a millionth of an inch, since any departure from a true sphere would cause blurring of the picture taken from heights at which reconnaissance planes usually fly.

For Surgical Sutures

Manufacturer Says Kangaroo Tendons Have Slow Absorption Rate

When you had your last operation, the incision may have been sown up with the tendon of a kangaroo.

Kangaroo tendons were useful as surgical sutures because they had a slow absorption rate, said W. M. Thomas, western representative of Davis & Geck, manufacturers of surgical sutures.

"Other materials used to sew up wounds are silver wire, silk, linen, cotton, gut and nylon," said Mr. Thomas. Sun glass was thought of for the purpose, but it proved unsatisfactory.

The war has seen a tremendous advance in surgery and the use of sutures, continued Mr. Thomas, whose home is in Alameda, California, and who is travelling through Canada on a business trip.

Unlike other industries, that of producing sutures has not suffered from a shortage of materials. "We have a high priority rating, and can get what materials we need," said Mr. Thomas. "It has not been too difficult for us to meet the demand."

Russia Exacts Heavy Penalty From Finland

LONDON.—Finland has agreed to pay the Soviet Union a heavy price in rich strategic territories, and cash reparations for losing its gamble in fighting on the side of Germany.

Acting Prime Minister Ernst von Born, broadcasting to the Finnish people terms of the armistice signed with Great Britain and Russia, called this "one of the hardest days in our history" and questioned whether the country could survive.

The 23-clause armistice, terms of which stiffened as the Finns stalled for months in getting out of the war, cost the Finns $300,000,000 indemnity, to be paid within six years, and these vital territorial concessions:

1. Immediate restoration of the 1940 Russo-Finnish border fixed after the 104-day war. This meant the loss of Karelia, the area west and north of Lake Ladoga which includes the city of Viipuri and is the most industrially developed region of Finland, containing more than 10 per cent. of its total population, and a slice of the border territory to the north where the Soviets planned a tributary to their Murmansk railway.

2. The Petsamo area in the far north with its port and rich nickel mines.

3. The leasing to Russia for 50 years of Porkkala peninsula with its naval base on the Finnish gulf. With the peninsula went a "considerable stretch of sea land." It was authoritatively reported that this leased territory would extend to a point only eight miles from the Finnish capital of Helsinki, putting the city at the mercy of the Soviet military might.

In addition, von Born disclosed that the Finns had granted the Allies temporary possession of airfields in south and southeast Finland and handed over the Finnish merchant fleet for the Allies wartime use with promises to "help the Allies with deliveries of material."

The Finns promised to disarm German troops in Finland and hand them over to the Allies. "And this," von Born said, "although we must prepare hastily for our army to return to peacetime footing."

Von Born disclosed that the Russians in half the cash indemnity asked of the Finns during negotiations last spring, but he added, "Nevertheless it is relatively heavier than any demand for reparations made on any country after the last war."

The same price, however, has been fixed for payment by Romania since Sept. 14. British representatives sat in on the conferences and together with those of Russia and von Born neglected to point out that the Finns' bargaining position was inferior to that of the Romanians, who joined in actively waging war against the Germans.

He called on the nation to "stick to reality and try to build up our existence with the opportunities that are left to us," and reminded the people that "we are Russia's neighbor and must always take this into account."

FOR SECOND TIME

Canadian Destroyer St. Laurent Rescues Survivors From Nazi Submarine

OTTAWA.—For the second time in her career, the veteran Canadian destroyer St. Laurent has had Germans aboard as "guests"—this time survivors of a U-boat sunk by aircraft. The navy told in a press release how the St. Laurent picked up the survivors—"a large number"—after their submarine was sent to the bottom by an aircraft of the R.A.F. coastal command during an air-sea battle.

The release did not say when the action occurred.

The first time the St. Laurent "entertained" Nazis was after she and the Canadian frigate Swansae shared in the destruction of a U-boat in the North Atlantic. That time 45 Germans were fished from the water.

The U-boat's crew were only average physical specimens. One officer professed to have lived in Vancouver for several years and spoke English well. Completely out of touch with the news, they expressed amazement that the Russians were at Warsaw and that nearly all France had been liberated by Allied armies.

Planning Relief For Europe Is Big Problem

MONTREAL.—Military and supply authorities laid before the 44-nation United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration their estimate of the relief problem in Europe and the resources available to meet it.

Reports from the United Kingdom and United States military commands, the combined food board, the combined raw materials board and the combined production and resources board gave UNRRA this picture:

1. Military authorities are anxious to transfer responsibility for relief in liberated areas in the shortest time compatible with the securing of victory. A tentative period of six months as the time necessary for the army to handle relief has been exceeded in Italy and is likely to be exceeded in France.

2. The overall food requirements of Allied countries in Europe can be met in 1945 with necessary co-operation between governments. Europe as a whole will not move rapidly from its present form of diet but an adequate calorie supply and some improvement in the quality of the diet can be assured.

3. The supply of most raw materials is expected to be adequate even in respect to products such as steel, aluminum and the alloying materials. On the whole raw materials will be in easier supply than their finished or semi-finished products.

4. The combined production and resources board report said that until the defeat of Germany there is no prospect that there will be any major easing of the supply situation, particularly for manufactured goods. Spokesmen for the various boards said that a difficulty faced was that none of the countries likely to require UNRRA aid had set forth detailed and complete information on their requirements.

It was learned that a proposed UNRRA allotment of not more than $50,000,000 for the relief of Italian people will receive the necessary two-thirds support of the delegates.

The proposal will deal with the specific case of Italy and will not mean that similar assistance will be extended to Germany after victory.

The combined production and resources board, in its report gave the following figures to indicate the size of UNRRA requirements:

About 23 per cent. of a year's combined United States, United Kingdom and Canadian production of footwear for civilians.

About 69 per cent. of the combined annual United Kingdom and United States production of wool woven goods, eight per cent. of cotton woven goods and 29 per cent. of knit goods. These quantities would be required for the first six months after UNRRA took over relief from military authorities in liberated areas.

Among the allocations made to Canada is that for 2,250,000 linear yards of woven woolen goods and 24,000 tons of farm machinery now in process of manufacture.

Saskatchewan's Lieutenant-Governor Is Retiring From Public Life

REGINA.—A grand old pioneer of the prairies, Hon. Archibald F. McNab, has decided to lay aside the burden of public office.

At the age of 80, the most popular lieutenant-governor in Saskatchewan's history, he will retire on October 1 after eight years at Government House.

His health is given as his reason. Announcement of his retirement was made following a report from Ottawa that the federal cabinet was giving attention to the appointment of a new lieutenant-governor.

The long years of service for the lieutenant-governor's adopted province virtually extends from the time Saskatchewan was formed.

Mr. McNab held many public offices from a member of the legislature for Saskatchewan to the highest public post, that of the lieutenant-governor.

He was a cabinet minister for many years and later-acted on the local government board.

Squadrons From Canada Helped Defeat Bombs

LONDON.—The signal which set Britain's defences working against the Germans' flying bomb was the code word "Diver".

From the time the first flying bomb was sighted as it roared over the Channel about 4 a.m., June 13, the word of the buzz bomb's arrival took only 30 seconds to reach service chiefs. They had been expecting it for some time and immediately the fighter and anti-aircraft defences went into action.

Canadians played a large part in both these phases of Britain's defence during the 80-day attack by buzz bombs. The City of Edmonton night intruder squadron, in their Mosquitoes, accounted for 79 buzz bombs shot down. Canadian ack-ack gunners also scored victories in south coast gun batteries.

Top scoring fighter pilot in the buzz bomb battle was Sqdn. Ldr. Joseph Berry of the R.A.F. He shot down 60, 57 of them at night. He told correspondents it was difficult at first to judge the firing range at night.

Wing Cmdr. Bob Beaumont, D.S.O. and bar, D.F.C. and bar, who leads a Tempest wing and destroyed 23 buzz bombs himself, was responsible for working out the fighter tactics employed.

He said that at first the Tempest pilots, supposed to have the greatest speed of any Allied fighting men, found they were outdistanced in a straight race with the buzz bombs. Eventually they came around to flying higher than the buzz bombs and getting their attacking speed from a dive.

After the first fortnight of the 80-day assault the fighters were knocking down 80 per cent. of their sightings.

The balloon men also had a hand in the battle. Their barrage was strengthened all around "Buzz Bomb Alley"—the area of southern England where the bombs were approaching—and accounted for a good many of them.

Allies Agree Situation In China Critical

WASHINGTON.—The United States is seeking a wholesale reorganization of China's war effort, to prevent the Allied flank in Asia from falling apart just as campaigns to wreck Japan are developing in the Pacific and Burma.

Some leaders hope that Gen. Joseph Stilwell, ranking American officer in the Asiatic area who already holds a Chinese army assignment as well, will be given a supreme Allied command with power to modernize and streamline the Chinese forces.

Fresh Allied defeats in China, the loss of strategic forward American air bases and the unimproving of political criticism, in Chungking itself have brought the situation into the open. It is considered critical not only because of the immediate military dangers but because of the political implications.

There has been much speculation that the Russians, who refused to meet with the Chinese in the post-war security talks here, may enter the war against the Japanese after victory in Europe. In that event, Russian forces would link up at some points with Chinese armies and close liaison would be required—certainly closer than present political relationships between the two governments would encourage.

State Secretary Hull was asked about the general state of Chinese affairs at his press conference but referred questioners to military officials.

However, it can be reported that diplomatic and military authorities are working together on the problem and that it was a principal concern of Vice-president Wallace on his trip to China, of Donald M. Nelson, U.S. production chief, on his current secret mission, and of President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill at Quebec.

In recent weeks, there has been some belief here that General Chiang Kai-Shek eventually may have to step aside in favor of a coalition government including representatives of the powerful communist groups in north China.

At the moment, competent authorities feel that the reorganization can and will have to be brought about by Chiang himself to avoid political disintegration of the country. That he may now be using his leadership to that end is suggested in connection with reports of wide latitude given critics of the government at Chungking meeting this month of the people's political council and advisory assembly.

Also, it is reported in informed quarters here, that the Chinese army, organized along war-lord lines, contains many divisions which are either largely Allied with ineffectives or which exist mostly on paper. Pay and allowances are portioned to the generals on the basis of the number of individuals in their commands. Some have kept their commands trimly organized and some have not.

Army Medical Corps Finds T.B. Rate Rising Among Canadian Personnel

OTTAWA.—The tuberculosis rate among Canadian active army personnel in Canada is rising and the Royal Canadian Army Medical Corps has launched a drive against the disease, defence headquarters announced.

The corps has started an "exhaustive" tuberculosis survey of male personnel in the active army in Canada, the announcement said. During the survey, a "test group" of 5,000 officers and men, selected from every military district in Canada, will be given an X-ray examination, both to spot early cases and to determine the current rate of the disease among the troops.

Those called for examination will be chosen from among men 35 years of age and under who have served in the active army for more than 18 months and have not had a chest X-ray within that period.

Protein Content Of Western Wheat Crop Down This Year

WINNIPEG.—The mean content of the 1944 western wheat crop was estimated at 13.3 per cent. in an interim report issued here by the board of grain commissioners' laboratory. The estimate is slightly lower than a year ago.

The average protein contents by provinces, with 1943 comparisons in parentheses, are: Manitoba 12.6 (13.1) per cent.; Saskatchewan 13.4 (13.8) and Alberta 13.7 (13.1).

Things you can't add on your fingers

IT'S hard, almost impossible, to figure out on your fingers the many benefits of life insurance.

The street car you ride on—the electricity that perks your coffee—the home you live in—the school your children attend—the hospital where your baby was born—these are available to you partly because of life insurance investments in Canada's mills, factories, power plants and public works. The money you put into insurance is always circulating to make more jobs for more people. It's hard to add up all its benefits because they are felt in every corner of the land.

Some say that life insurance money would be better employed as "venture" capital rather than invested in long term bonds and mortgages. Well, life insurance companies must regard the investments which they make from year to year as true funds, and policyholders would not want it otherwise. Deliberate safeguards have been set up to protect these investments and government laws very properly prohibit the use of life insurance funds for speculative purposes.

The truth is that life insurance assets are safely invested in such a wide variety of local and national undertakings that the average man has no conception of how much the development of the country depends on life insurance funds.

It is good citizenship to own LIFE INSURANCE
